Vintage Gem Unearthed

Alan Miller, President of Maldon Vintage Machinery & Museum, beams with pride beside the newly acquired 1926 Essex Tourer—a nostalgic piece of automotive history gifted by David Walsh, marking a journey from a Gisborne farm to a treasured museum exhibit.

Back in July, David Walsh of Stringline Retaining Walls in Ferntree Gully was visiting the Maldon Vintage Machinery & Museum. After seeing the vintage cars on display there, he started to talk about a 1926 Essex Tourer that was owned by his Uncle Howard Lobb, who had purchased it 60 years ago from a farmer in Gisborne for 11 quid.

His uncle at 17 years old drove it around the Melbourne area for quite a while and then decided to strip the paint off it in order to do some work on it and possibly change the colour. He lost interest in doing this and so the vehicle lay for 50 years in a shed before being removed to David's Factory. After hearing the story from David, he asked me if the Museum would be interested in the old car. My first question was, "How much would you want for it?" With the answer being, "Nothing, we want to give it to you!" I couldn't say, "yes" and "thank you", quickly enough. To top it off, David delivered the car on his way to catch up with his Uncle in Charlton on the long weekend.

Remembrance Day in Maldon

MALDON RSL Sub-Branch hosted the annual Remembrance Day ceremony last Saturday at the Cenotaph, favoured by fine weather with a pleasant breeze. Sub-branch President Kevin Moschetti led proceedings with his customary dignity and eloquence.

A feature was the reading of her winning entry in the competition (sponsored by the RSL and Maldon Newsagency) involving the writing of students in Grades 5 and 6, by Alice. The TT was also delighted to catch up with 96-year-old veteran Mr Gordon Walter.

Meanwhile, an apparent burst water main saw many litres of water speeding down the central driveway and into High Street's stone drain heading towards Newstead. This unintentional water feature made crossing a little risky for some.

Sub-branch President Kevin Moschetti leads the annual Remembrance Day ceremony at Maldon's Cenotaph, a day marked by community, respect, and poignant memories.

At 96 years young, veteran Mr. Gordon Walter stands as a living testament to history, gracing the Remembrance Day ceremony in Maldon with his enduring spirit and honourable service.

Alice, a young student from Maldon, proudly presents her winning entry at the Remembrance Day ceremony, bridging past and present with her heartfelt words.

A surprise water main break added an unexpected twist to Maldon's Remembrance Day, turning the central driveway into a temporary stream and testing the agility of attendees.

Wilderhoods at the MULGA AGM

FOLLOWING Maldon Urban Landcare's (MULGA) AGM last Saturday, educator, ecologist and garden designer Dr Cassia Read gave an inspirational presentation on how to create a thriving neighbourhood environment in response to the changing climate. The solution, according to Cassia, is to create wilderhoods in urban areas.

Wilderhoods are a way to effect positive ecological change, primarily by communities coming together to plant grasses, shrubs and trees that bring nature into towns and cities. Cassia and her colleague Ada Nano, who head up the Castlemaine Institute, have conducted two successful pilot programs in Castlemaine that have seen local residents embarking on projects to rewild their neighbourhoods.

A passionate gardener, Cassia undertook her PhD in the Mallee and Wimmera, looking at small tracts of remnant vegetation surrounded by paddocks of wheat. "It made me realise how much nature can be found in a small place, and how important connectivity is in maintaining those islands of wildlife," she said. "Connectivity is vital. Plant a tree and you'll bring insects to your garden. The insects will bring birds. That's how it begins."

Cassia believes it's important to create habitat for wildlife in our towns. "We're right flat bang in the middle of an area of remnant vegetation, and we need corridors for our wildlife," she said. "In dry, hot times, those animals come into the towns. The birds come out of the bush looking for water. We need to create places of refuge for them."

Rewilding projects, according to Cassia, have great community benefits. "There's a sense of wellbeing when you're involved with greening and with nature, and it leads to a growing connection between neighbours," she said.

Where to start? There are many possibilities, including your nature strip! Imagine if you got together with a few neighbours and planted your nature strips with indigenous grasses and shrubs. And that'd be one less area that you'd need to mow.

There may be a neglected area at the back of your shed, where you could plant some shrubs that will attract wrens or honeyeaters.

Remnant vegetation nearby vacant land needing care? Give it some care!

Cassia's dream is to make wilderhoods an integral part of urban areas across the region. "We attracted funding for our first two programs, through an Adapt Loddon Mallee grant and from the World Wildlife Foundation. In order to move on from where we are at present, however, we need more funding," she said.

Porcupine Village - Permit Withdrawal

A State Government grant of $1.7 million to assist with the development of a tourist complex at the Porcupine Village site was announced with much fanfare by the Minister for Sport and Major Events Martin Pakula one year ago. It was envisaged that the development would create more than 100 jobs and attract more visitors to the region.

The planning permit application for the proposed development has now been formally withdrawn, with Mt Alexander Shire Council recently notifying objectors of this fact. Objectors were informed by Council that the developer is now “considering opportunities to pursue a new proposal that is reduced in scale.”

The permit application withdrawal does not, of course, affect the Village’s current operations, which includes the Golden Nugget Restaurant - a popular place for locals and visitors to have a meal and take in some live entertainment.

The Times has contacted Mr Frank Hutchinson, the owner of Porcupine Village, for a comment. He said that, together with his town planning consultants, he was reassessing the planning permit application with a view to modifying the plans for the development. “We’re trying to get it right,” he said. “We want a development that is better for everyone in the end.”

Ideally, Mr Hutchinson told the Times, he would like to see the development open in stages - firstly the motel units, and then the village.

Fire Danger Period Has Begun

THE Fire Danger Period started on Monday this week, almost a month earlier than the FDP in 2022. According to Maldon Fire Brigade Captain Sean McCubbin, the coming summer is shaping up to be a potentially dangerous time for fires.

Sean is not surprised that the Fire Danger Period has already been declared. “I would have been happier if it had been called before the Folk Festival,” he said. “You only have to look at the grass, which is very dry. There have already been a few fires in the area caused by hay cutting and roadside slashing. The smallest spark is all it needs at the moment to start a fire. You only have to look at what’s been happening in Queensland to realise that it could be a long, drawn-out fire season.”

According to Sean, if you haven’t cleaned up your property yet, then it’s definitely time to get into gear. It’s worth remembering that you can dispose of your green waste free of charge at Maldon and Castlemaine transfer stations from Saturday 25 November to Monday 11 December. And don’t forget to bring proof of your Shire residence.

This summer, Sean believes that it’s important to be prompt when calling in a fire. “Call before a fire becomes a big issue,” he said. “Don’t be scared to call, because a small fire can easily escalate and become something big.”

It’s anticipated that there will be a fire safety information day at the Maldon Fire Station before the end of November, with the date yet to be finalised. “But you’re welcome to call in at the station on any Sunday morning,” Sean said. “There are always CFA members there then who’ll answer your questions. And if you see any public land near your house that you think needs slashing, please let us know. We can always advocate for you.”

Trailer Theft

RENEE, Michael and son Ben moved to Maldon just a few weeks ago and set up their gardening/yard clean-up business ‘MowMee’. Renee went through breast cancer treatment last year, and Michael started this new work venture to fit around Renee’s ongoing medical appointments.

Early last Sunday morning, Michael heard a noise and went to investigate, only to see their trailer being taken away. It is a brand-new 8x5 box trailer with dual axle and mudflaps; it was full of rubbish at the time with some brooms and rakes. Renee made this appeal to whoever was responsible: “We cannot run our business without it and can’t afford to replace it. If you have a conscience at all, it’s not too late to leave it somewhere and text anonymously where it can be found. We really just want it back ASAP so we don’t lose any work or money.” An unconfirmed report claimed that six trailers were stolen recently.

Leading Senior Constable David Rose from Maldon Police Station told the Tarrangower Times that three trailers had been stolen in Maldon over a 10-day period, two of which have been recovered. It appears that at least one, containing stolen property, had been used for illegal wood collection. Chainsaws in good condition were also found; if you are missing that or any other equipment, please feel free to contact Maldon Police. Leading Senior Constable Rose also urged residents to ‘harden up’ about household security. He noted that relaxed attitudes in our relatively crime-free community expose a soft underbelly and create temptation for the light-fingered. A Police program named ‘Target Hardening’ aims to raise awareness of the easy target we can make of ourselves and our possessions through complacency. You have been warned.

In need of a gardener? You can find Michael’s details on page 27 in the Business & Services section.

Balance in Life and Art

THE next MANet Arts Focus Gallery's opening is on Friday 17 November at 5pm. So, talking to Carol De Graauw, the featured artist this month, was fascinating. Partly because we found we had so much in common. Our art training and subsequent teaching experiences had a lot of crossover. We both majored in textiles and silver smithing.

Carol is a multidisciplinary artist, which means she works in a range of media and will be exhibiting works in all of them. That means there will be painting, ceramics, resin, and silversmithing in her first solo exhibition. She says that she finds balance through artmaking; in fact she 'can't live without a daily dose of creativity'.

She has been involved in many group exhibitions and has pieces in a number of small galleries across Victoria. She enjoys opening her home studio to invite others into her creative space and process.

Carol's creative family background is quite amazing, starting with her grandmother, who was an artist. Her mother and aunt are also involved in the arts, as well as her daughters.

Carol said, "My interest in the performing arts began in childhood as we were fortunate to have exposure to live theatre as children. Then my mother would play the piano and lively sing songs would occur, including all the Julie Andrews movies.

"My sister and I attended jazz ballet and tap dance classes for many years and performed in various competitions. I was always heavily involved in the design and fabrication of the costumes. More recently, I have assisted a friend creating a movie based on the circus. I have attended many Circus Oz performances and love the shapes and shadows the acrobats and trapeze artists create. Anything with music, colour and movement gives me joy."

Carol believes that creativity engages the soul, the heart, the mind, and the body; it offers escape and inspiration. She draws upon many sources - personal experience, the natural world, architecture, art deco and Egyptian art styles (among many others!), and recently, the circus, as mentioned above.

She works across a variety of mediums to find the perfect balance between their natural potential and her creative energies. This is particularly evident in her hand moulded resin work. She has captured natural materials like leaves and threads in resin together with alcohol inks to create bowls, exquisite small objects and wearable art, including colourful earrings.

Carol creates jewellery from a range of materials, including gold, silver, bronze, cloisonne enamelling, as well as resin. She also works with clay to create functional and decorative pieces and has recently returned to painting.

So, drop into the Arts Focus Gallery between 17 November - 11th December to see for yourself and maybe acquire an unusual piece of jewellery. The Gallery is open on Thursday, Friday, Saturday and Sunday from 11am - 4pm.

It's never OK

Reducing workplace harm.

Meg Sattler, relaxing at home with Chippy.

THE Times caught up with Meg Sattler this week on the day she arrived home in Maldon from an intense three weeks of work in Europe. Based in Vienna, Meg heads up a small NGO that gives policy advice on the delivery of humanitarian aid. To date, she has had an amazing career where she has made a positive difference to the lives of untold thousands of people. And you get the feeling that the best is yet to come.

Let’s start at the beginning, when Meg’s family lived in Melbourne, moved to Tennant Creek for a while and eventually settled in Castlemaine. She remembers her parents and her grandmother being involved with social justice issues, with Meg and her sisters being taken to protests and encouraged to watch the news. “Although that didn’t immediately influence what I wanted to do when I left school,” Meg said. “I didn’t want to change the world. My aim was always to work in wildlife conservation or veterinary science—anything to do with animals.”

In the end, Meg studied journalism at Deakin University and this led to a job with World Vision working in emergency communications. From there, she was deployed to Haiti for six weeks, following the devastating earthquake there in 2010. “I ended up staying there for two years,” she said.

From Haiti, Meg worked on the ground in Pakistan, Syria and Iraq and held senior roles with a number of United Nations offices. These were tough assignments, and in Pakistan she received death threats and had to leave. “I was probably too young at the time and it was a very senior job,” she said. “We were trying to organise vocational training for Pakistani and Afghan girls and we copped huge criticism from men in general and the Taliban in particular.”

But Meg talks still easily of these times. “Yes, it was hard,” she said. “You do get angry about the way the world is, but I feel as though I’ve been really privileged too. I’ve had access to communities I’d never have seen if I’d stayed in Australia, and gained so much knowledge about the world.”

Working with a team of 30 people, Meg’s organisation plays a watchdog role in working out the best way to deliver better results when it comes to channelling aid to crisis-affected countries. “Sometimes we push ourselves in, but mostly Humanitarian Coordinators invite us in to help. We’re more or less an accepted part of the architecture of the humanitarian aid system now.”

The non-profit organization is funded by the governments of Norway, the Netherlands, Switzerland, the USA, Canada and Sweden, as well as contributions from foundations like Ikea. “We’ve just been nominated for the Hilton Prize,” Meg said (at $2.5million, this prize is the world’s largest annual humanitarian award presented to a non-profit organisation).

Meg believes that there will be increasing pressure on the aid sector as there are so many protracted crises throughout the world. “There are more refugees, more people displaced within their own countries, and climate change will lead to more people needing aid,” she said. “It’s a challenging but interesting time to be working in aid. I’m genuinely inspired by the young people I meet. The new generation is much more connected and shares a great deal of information to help them organise and push for change.”

Questions that Meg and her organisation need to ask are: Is aid relevant? Is it working? “Local knowledge is essential,” she said. “You need to ask people what they want and what they think. Local organisations often work the best, if resources can be directed their way. For instance, in the early days of the Ukraine conflict, it was the small, local organisations who were delivering aid. And they did a great job. But sometimes the aid is not working; large aid organisations can be bureaucratic and a bit colonial. Smaller and scrappier organisations can often deliver more effective outcomes.”

Even resilient people such as Meg have their limits. On the humanitarian crisis in Gaza, Meg said, “Everyone I know working in my sector is just broken by what’s happening in Gaza. We need to tell our leaders it can’t go on. People power on this one is strong. We must speak up. I’ve seen a lot of crises, lived in a lot of war zones. But Gaza is just beyond me.”

Gaza notwithstanding, Meg said that there have been times when she has struggled with the amount of suffering she has seen. “Seeing children being trafficked in Haiti and seeing the impact of war on little kids in the Middle East,” she said. “That has affected me more than when my own security has been threatened.”

It’s a big life, a stressful life that Meg leads. She flies out again soon to attend COP28 in Dubai, but in the meantime she is enjoying time at home in Maldon with her rescue dog Chippy (who is cared for by Meg’s parents during Meg’s overseas stints). “Maldon is my little slice of paradise,” she said. “I always say that Maldon’s nice, but not nice enough to be covered in tourists. I can go out walking, not see anyone else and simply disconnect by being in nature. My little bush life helps me cope with my crazy international life.”

Meg is a Director of the Community Bank Maldon & District, having been approached to join the Board after she won a category of the local photography competition. “I love being on the Board,” she said. “It’s a whole different level of accountability and decision-making to that of my working life.”

The Ideal Main Street

A recent survey by retail consultancy Shopology has focused on what people want in terms of shops and services in their ideal Main Street.

The survey is the only academically-based, empirical Australian study to ask shoppers what their preferences are. While local government, planners, trade associations and retailers may work to revitalise main streets to make them more attractive places to shop and to increase economic activity, people who use these places are often not consulted about what they actually need and want on their Main Street.

Here is what the majority of those people surveyed in regional areas want to see on their Main Street, in order of their five preferred businesses:

- Pharmacy
- Restaurant/Cafe
- Supermarket
- Clothing and footwear
- Coffee shop

And here is what those surveyed in regional areas consider to be the top five elements of their ideal Main Street, in order of preference:

- Cleanliness
- Parking
- Safety and security
- Walkability
- Services & amenities (Services may include post offices, banks and service stations, while amenities would include easy access to public conveniences, seating etc).

How do Main Street and High Street in Maldon measure up? Pretty well, although there’s not a lot on offer in terms of footwear unless you count the possibility that gum-boots may be on sale at SP Machinery & Hardware! Apart from the lack of footwear, Maldon ticks all the boxes.

Protruding infrastructure in Fountain Street Maldon

The recent works by McClure where a huge hole was dug to suction out stuff and install pipes etc, was well covered over in Fountain Street before the Maldon Folk Festival.

However, all the heavy vehicles, cars and buses etc, over the Folk Festival weekend have caused the metal coverings to rise up out of the ground and become a major trip hazard and potentially damage the new system (see attached pics).

It would seem wise/necessary for whoever is responsible for the work that has been done to come to Maldon and check that it is safe from every point of view.

Footpath Condition in Castlemaine

It was related to me by one of our senior members of Mt. Alexander Shire that she had a horrendous fall that caused substantial damage to her hand and bruising and abrasions to her face due to the state of a footpath condition. Having previously been reported to the Council about the need to pave this footpath, no action at this point in time has been taken.

Have other residents had such an experience happen to them or other people they know? Did the Council take immediate action? Were you satisfied or not with the action taken or the time taken to act?

Being told this footpath is an older section of Castlemaine, to my mind, should be seen as a priority for the Council to attend to as soon as possible.

Residents should be aware that if such problems are reported over a period of time (three times), and a fall, damage, or personal injury occurs due to the Council's lack of action, you can sue, but it has to be reported three times. Make sure you do it in writing and have a stamped and dated copy. Plenty of Council funds are wasted on woke political crap etc.

Batteries - Warning

NEW research by B-cycle, Australia's government-backed battery recycling scheme, shows that most Australians are not aware of the simple safety measure of taping used batteries.

For child safety and for fire prevention, used batteries must be covered with clear sticky tape and never put in general waste and recycling bins.

Here are some worrying statistics:

- More than half (55%) of Australians are still disposing of batteries incorrectly in regular waste or recycling bins.
- 79% are not aware of the important safety step of taping used batteries.
- Only 12% say they immediately tape the exposed terminals when replacing used household batteries.

Button batteries in particular are a huge safety issue. While they appear harmless, battery buttons can have a devastating impact when ingested or inserted by small children. They can cause severe internal caustic burns and death. If thrown in general waste and recycling bins, button batteries can cause fires and can leach toxic materials into the environment.

Taping and recycling batteries can:

- Make batteries harder to swallow or insert.
- If ingested, the tape limits the caustic burn and gives health staff more time to save the child's life.
- Tapping over battery terminals helps prevent short-circuiting.
- Keeping batteries out of general waste and recycling bins helps prevent fires in the waste stream and stops batteries going into landfill.
- Recycling gets used batteries out of the home and into safe hands so they can be made into something new.

B-cycle has over 4,000 easily accessible drop-off points across the country in retail stores such as Aldi, Bunnings, Battery World, Coles, Officeworks and Woolworths. Councils also have collection points.

The message is:

Don't toss them!

Tape them!

Take them to your local B-cycle drop-off point or council collection site.

Buda’s Traditional Arts Fair 2023

2022 Castlemaine Truck Show Convoy.

ONE of regional Australia’s premier truck show events will be held in Castlemaine over the weekend of 25 and 26 November. Now in its 35th year, the HHA & Larsen’s Castlemaine Rotary Truck Show is a popular event for the whole family with free children’s rides and entertainment on the ground, commencing at noon on Saturday and from 10am on Sunday.

Live music on stage will feature award-winning singer and songwriter Craig Lloyd and Tamworth favourites Peter Coad and The Coad Sisters, plus other special guests sure to get the toes tapping.

Back by popular demand is the mini train for the little ones to ride along with a jumping castle, chair ride and face painting. As one happy parent said last year, “This is the best value family day out ever!”

Catering and a licensed bar are provided on the ground, and of course, there are many incredible trucks from all over Australia to view. You don’t have to be in the trucking industry to appreciate the pride and craftsmanship that goes into these vehicles that keep our stores stocked with products. A crowd favourite is the Sunday morning convoy that drives through the Castlemaine central business district at 9am.

For those who are in the industry, it is an important national event on the annual calendar. “This (Castlemaine) show produces the best trucks in the country and the people who support it set the benchmark in trucking,” Jon Kelly from Heavy Haulage Assets said last year.

With the support of many sponsors and volunteers, this is Castlemaine Rotary’s major fundraiser for the year, with proceeds going towards community projects and youth scholarships.

Spectator admission is $15 for adults and children under 16 years are free. Trucks are also welcome to enter for the chance of winning one of over 30 trophies on offer.

For more information go to <http://castlemainetruckshow.com/>.

The fair will also feature handcrafted ice cream, coffee, a gourmet BBQ, Devonshire teas, light lunches, and even Shedshaker Brewery’s bar. There will be something to satisfy every palate.

With three stages hosting free demonstrations, individual demonstrations at each stall, roving musicians and a special guest artist in residence, there will be plenty of entertainment and opportunities to learn. Families can enjoy children’s activities to keep the little ones engaged and entertained throughout the day. There will be a Make’n Take table where you can learn to make some beautiful copper wares and there will be guided tours of the house at various times throughout the day.

Adults are only $5 and kids are free, so don’t miss out on a fantastic family day out. Gates are open at 10am until 4pm and you can book in advance through the website or buy tickets at the gate on the day budacastlemaine.org.

Urban Dust Hat Bar & Boutique

LOCAL gal Fiona Van Kampen has recently opened a fabulous new business in Maldon. ‘Urban Dust Hat Bar & Boutique’ is Australia’s first hat bar and boutique.

Fiona’s beautiful shop, located next door to Beaton’s Store, is unique and quirky. Fiona feels very grateful to have the opportunity to showcase her products in such a lovely heritage shop. She ensures that she highlights its characteristics, which reflect our wonderful town.

Before moving to Maldon in 2014 with her husband Ash McKnight, who was born and raised here, Fiona spent 20 years in the fashion accessories industry working behind the scenes alongside brands such as Sportsgirl, Sussan, General Pants, Witchery, Seed and Just Jeans; the list goes on. The move was daunting, but now Fiona feels like she is ‘home’ and cannot wait to bring some of her experience to Maldon for locals and visitors alike. Fiona wants Urban Dust Hat Bar & Boutique to become a destination store where customers can experience some good old-fashioned fun.

At Urban Dust, you can choose your hat size, style and colour and then decorate it with their bespoke range of accessories to create your hat. Your very own design! Fiona has a fantastic range of jewellery pieces, bling and feathers to help you make your dream hat. Fiona says, “You can even have your hat branded with your name!”

What an excellent activity for a birthday, hen’s party, work party or just a group of friends wanting to have a fun day out.

Fiona offers the ultimate hat-making experience with her hat-decorating workshops. She welcomes individual walk-ins, private events or group bookings. Find out more at www.urbandusthatbar.com.

— MEET OUR MEMBERS —

A series of profiles showcasing our wonderful volunteers.

Today we meet: MORRIE OXLEY

"I'm from Raywood, a small rural community just north of Bendigo. I started farming here in the late 1940s and ran a beef, sheep and cropping property."

Morrie went on, "I soon developed an interest in improved farming techniques and was the first in the district to practice organic farming by improving my soil without the use of pesticides. I was also looking at innovative tools to improve my pasture. In the early years, I had my working horse team of between 4 and 12 Clydesdales, which then progressed to me building my own powerhouse to run farm machinery. Then around 1980 came the tandem Chamberlain tractor. I made this hybrid tractor by joining two different Chamberlains together to pivot in the middle (for manoeuvrability). This provided me with double the horsepower for my needs."

Morrie states that the neighbours could hear his twin Chamberlain from miles around when he fired it up and marvelled at its capabilities. "They dubbed it the 'Lizard'," he says.

"I also had the biggest hay mower of the times ... because I built it!"

By building his own farm machinery, Morrie was able to improve the productivity of his farm, also modifying machinery for other local farmers in order to fulfil their needs.

He continued to tell me that the Department of Agriculture would call him every few weeks to see what he was doing as he had developed advanced methods of improving his soil, consistently returning the biggest crop yield in the district!

A pioneer of advanced farming techniques within the agricultural industry.

Morrie has long since retired from farming and his Chamberlain 'Lizard' was laid to rest. Many years later, it was acquired by a tractor and machinery enthusiast basically in pieces and later bequested to the Mt Alexander Vintage Engine Club (MAVEC) for restoration.

On Sunday 29 October 2023, MAVEC held its annual Tractor Pull event at the Dave Bennett Reserve at Muckleford and Morrie's Chamberlain tractor was proudly displayed for all to enjoy.

88-year-old Morrie was on hand to see the 'Lizard' power up and get behind the wheel one more time. You couldn't wipe the smile off Morrie's face as he did a lap of honour!

Restoration is now almost complete thanks to a dedicated team of volunteers at the Mt Alexander Vintage Engine Club, who have spent countless hours bringing the Chamberlain back from the brink.

Morrie has been a member of the Maldon Vintage Machinery and Museum for about 12 years (he thinks) and brings a vast knowledge of stationary engines, tractors (particularly Chamberlains) and farm machinery to pass on to other members.

Morrie continues to show a keen interest in sharing this knowledge and is a much-valued member of our museum.

Getting busy

White-browed Woodswallow (female), Mia Mia Track, 3 November 2023

Posted on 6 November 2023

After filling the skies above the forest for weeks now, the woodswallows have finally descended to nest. It's early stages, with some birds incubating and many nests still being constructed. White-browed and Masked Woodswallows often select locations in the lower canopy, such as a fork in a sapling – this pair has chosen a small River Red Gum. Low stumps and even fence posts are also frequently used. Interesting to note the fresh lining in this nest – native grass stems and wool to complement the outer shell of slender dry sticks.

Mosquitoes - Stay Safe this Summer

FOLLOWING last year's heavy rain and flooding, particularly across parts of northern Victoria, conditions have created the ideal environment for disease in the mosquito population. For some people, mosquito-borne diseases can lead to severe and long-term health complications. Mosquito-borne diseases that can be passed from insect to human include Japanese encephalitis, Murray Valley encephalitis, Ross River, Barmah Forest and West Nile viruses. Here are simple and practical steps that you can take to reduce the risk of being bitten by mosquitoes:

- Cover up by wearing long, loose-fitting clothing; mosquitoes can bite through tight clothing.
- Use mosquito repellents containing Picaridin or DEET on all exposed skin.
- Check the repellent label before applying to children.

Spraying or rubbing repellent on children's clothes is recommended. Avoid applying it to their skin, especially their hands.

- Minimise outdoor activity if there is an increase in mosquito numbers. Use 'knockdown' fly spray, mosquito coils or plug-in repellent when sitting or eating outdoors.
- Remove stagnant water where mosquitoes can breed around the home or campsite.
- Make sure your house and holiday accommodation are fitted with mosquito screens.

High-risk areas where residents are eligible for the Japanese encephalitis vaccines include Greater Bendigo and Loddon. These municipalities are close to the Times readership area, so the message is clear: avoid getting bitten by mosquitoes this summer!

Maldon Preschool

ON Friday 10 November, Maldon Preschool went on a street walk. The purpose of the walk was to deliver some very special thank you notes and invitations. Throughout the year, we have had meat donated to us from Maldon Butchers for our cooking program, so we delivered a thank you note to Brad and the team.

On the way, we saw a very cool old car and a Christmas display at the Christmas shop. The next stop was Maldon Rose. Maldon Rose donated a smart TV to our Preschool, so we delivered a thank you letter and a special invitation to a high tea we are having to honour them. On the way back, when we got to Berryman's, the street paving squares looked like they needed to have hopscotch played on them, so we had a quick game.

When we crossed the road, we found a map of Maldon. We have been learning about mapping at kinder, and we looked at the map to see where we had been and where we were going.

The last stop of our walk was the Post Office. We stopped here to purchase stamps to put on the letters we wrote to the new children starting Maldon Preschool in 2024. We are inviting them for an orientation to make lanterns for the Maldon Lantern Parade early next year. While posting the letters at the PO, we noticed a lot of water flowing down the drain and followed it up the hill. We wondered if someone was filling up the swimming pool and had overflowed it.

At the Primary School, we had a look at their Remembrance Day display and found a blue tongue lizard sunbaking in the grass.

It was a great day for a walk and to see lots of people we know in the community.

Library News

World Children's Day – 20 November 2023

World Children's Day is UNICEF's annual day of action for children and by children, marking the adoption by the UN General Assembly, of the Declaration and the Convention on Children's Rights.

At the library we are committed to supporting a child's right to rest, relax and play. We encourage children's literacy development by providing access to a rich source of books and activities such as rhyme time and story time. The development of our library as a child-friendly space has been generously supported by a Community Grant from the Mount Alexander Shire Council.

The grant funds have been put towards improving the environment of the Children's Library along with providing a change table to meet the needs of parents/ carers with babies and toddlers who use the library. We have purchased more books, especially for babies and young children up to five and plan to have a Rhyme Time program in 2024.

Book Reviews

Noni the Pony Rescues a Joey by Alison Lester

Another delightful book in the Noni the Pony series by a much-celebrated Australian author. In this book, Noni the Pony and her friends help a lost wallaby joey find his family. To find out if Noni and her friends can help their new friend find his family and his way home, you will need to read the book.

Rosie's Walk by Pat Hutchins

In this children's classic, it is the illustrations that tell the real story. Rosie sets off for a stroll around the farm unaware that someone is following her. But, as Rosie walks around the farm, her follower keeps his eyes only on her and fails to see the obstacles in his way with hilarious consequences. This is a great book to share one-on-one with a toddler.

Noisy Nora by Rosemary Wells

Not happy with family members not paying attention to her Nora decides to do something her family can't - make noise. Nora slams windows, bangs doors, and upsets furniture but she is still being ignored and so goes off to hide. The big question is, 'Will Nora be missed? Read the book and find out how her family react when they realise that Nora is nowhere to be found.

When Rose Meets Mr Wintergarten by Bob Graham

One day when Rose's ball goes over the fence into Mr Wintergarten's garden Rose decides to visit her mysterious next-door neighbour. On advice from her mother she walks up to the door of Mr Wintergarten's house bearing hot fairy cakes and flowers. I wonder what Mr Wintergarten's reaction will be. In this, another heart-warming story from Bob Graham we find out just what is needed to build relationships in a neighbourhood.

The Teddy Bear's Promise written by Dianna Noonan and illustrated by Robyn Belton

A bear is given as a gift to a young boy who grows up and passes it on to another young boy who grows up and passes it on to another young boy. To each young boy, the bear makes the same special promise, 'I'll never leave you. Wherever you go, I will go and wherever you are, I'll be there!' This is a book designed to enchant readers, young and old.

Toddlerobics by Zita Newcombe

This is more than just a picture book. It is full-on immersion in a range of fun activities that will have toddlers up and moving about.

Uptick in Train Travel

TAKING the train to Melbourne and back has become a popular way to travel. More than 1.5 million trips have been taken along the V/Line northern corridor in the six months since regional fares were capped.

Since the launch of the fare cap, the level of regional travel across the network has increased by around a third in the same period last year, including a more than 50 per cent increase in patronage on the Bendigo Line compared with the same period in 2022.

V/Line has experienced the busiest Winter and Spring school holiday periods for train travel on record under the fare cap.

To help meet the extra demand, V/Line has added hundreds of special services across the network, including additional weekend services on the Bendigo Line. V/Line has also added carriages where possible, used standby coaches at key locations and trialled new reservation procedures.

Bendigo West Member Maree Edwards said, "We're delighted fairer fares have been so popular and we'll continue transforming the regional rail network – upgrading every line in the state, as well as adding more trains and services."

A WEEK OF HAPPENINGS

THERE was so much to celebrate last week, following a big weekend of Maldon happenings.

The 2023 Melbourne Cup was won by Without a Fight, ridden by Mark Zahra, backing up from last year's winner Gold Trip. The VRC Oaks was won by Zardoz and I wonder if any of the finely dressed ladies, who were having a good time at their annual luncheon at the Hotel, had a win or two on the horses? They were having a good time, so maybe they did?

Would there be happy happenings at our tables, we wondered, as we settled into play out the cards in the hope of a win or two? Not a chance of a monetary win, but perhaps the satisfaction of at least getting a slam or two! A couple of slams were there for the taking, but alas, the opportunity was missed by misunderstanding bids. For example, calculating points seemed to be the problem! Doubling was evasive, but Fred managed to get one in!!

Another happening during the week was the success of six of our Club's online players who combined to take out the top three placings. Congratulations are in order for a great achievement by all.

It was not long before the scores were calculated and announced by Danny. In first place with 63 points were Danny and Associates. Mary and Newstead Jo were second with 52 points. Liz and Ken were third with 41 points, followed by Aileen and Annie in fourth place with 36 points. Competitive results and well done to all.

Our afternoon tea break was most welcome and we thoroughly enjoyed the delicious date scones with complimentary butter to go! and a warm cuppa to go with them. Thank you team Maldon Hotel on such a busy afternoon. Greatly appreciated.

As we came to the end of the week, it was Remembrance Day. Remembrance Day falls on the 11th of November each year. On the 11th hour on the 11th day of the 11th month, a minute's silence is observed and dedicated to those soldiers who died fighting to protect the nation.

We Will Remember Them.

Whatever your age group or skills please feel free to join us each Thursday at the Maldon Hotel 1.15 pm to 4.30 pm to help us in our endeavours to

UNESCO Victorian Goldfields World Heritage Bid

CASSOC is the Castlemaine Society Inc, a committee supporting the bid to have the Victorian Goldfields included on the UNESCO World Heritage listing. What does that mean exactly?

Wikipedia says: A World Heritage Site is a landmark or area with legal protection by an international convention administered by the United Nations Educational, Scientific and Cultural Organisation. World Heritage Sites are designated by UNESCO for having cultural, historical, scientific or other forms of significance.

A Goldfields Region public meeting will be held on Thursday 23 November (details below) with Guest Speaker and Bid Coordinator Mr Trevor Budge AM. CASSOC is concerned that there is little public awareness about the bid and its aims, which are to benefit the local economy and share with the world our extraordinary and unique heritage.

What do our communities stand to gain from a successful bid? To learn about its aims and aspirations, where it is currently up to and what is included and not included in making the bid, all are welcome to attend this meeting. It will be held at the Uniting Church Hall, 24 Lyttleton Street Castlemaine from 7-9pm. # BLAST FROM THE PAST

A POEM FOR THE SHIRE COUNCIL

IN late 1883, Joseph Jenkins, the Welsh Swagman, was living in the bush at Ravenswood in a hut he called 'Ants' Hill Hermitage'. He was finding it hard to get regular paid employment or buyers for the firewood he gathered. To obtain some income, he successfully tendered for a Shire of Maldon contract to dig a drain and clear a road of dead trees at Walmer. After Jenkins had completed the contract, the Council Surveyor and a number of other Council employees inspected his work and expressed their satisfaction with it.

In early January 1884, a severe storm hit Walmer, downing a number of trees. Some of these blocked the approach to a bridge across the Muckleford Creek near what is now Williams Road. The Council asked Jenkins to cut these trees up and remove them. After he completed the job, Jenkins' account for payment was accompanied by some original poetry that was read at a Council meeting on Thursday 7 February.

The first poem was a ditty of just four lines expressing Jenkins' thanks for the job.

*Thanks to the storm that blew the trees,
And block'd the public road;
That brought the labourer some fees,
To blunt his hungry goad.*

The second poem was headed Rhymes dedicated to R H Way, President and consisted of seven verses each of four lines. Richard Henry Way, a local butcher, was then the Maldon Shire President.

The poem opened with the lines:

*Travel and beg for a job to toil
With skill to improve the maiden soil,
With fair remuneration in both ways,
With peace and plenty through all our days*

Jenkins argued that the workingman had skills and knowledge to contribute and should not be just seen as a source of cheap labour. He then went on to object to government-assisted immigration that undermined workers' wages. Jenkins reminded the reader that the working class paid more than their share in taxation and all levels of society would suffer without their toil. Labour, he said, was property's 'best pearl'.

In his final verses, Jenkins declared that everyone was born 'to do something that's good'. The Colony's militia alone was not strong enough to defend Victoria against an invader. It would need the support and assistance of 'strong and happy settlers'. The poem ended with the lines,

*Vain pride, selfishness and ambition
Will never make, nor form a nation.*

IMT-In Maldon Today Radio Program

TODAY Lynette and Katrine meet with Kevin/Keveen Speirs - coming to talk all things music and his recent overseas adventures.

Last Friday EC and Nancy had the delight of chatting to Viv Markham (pictured) about her attempts to retire since leaving the TT. We learned about carnivorous bears in Japan and all-male facilities for pétanque players in France. She discussed the bookshop she had for 20 years. Her latest 'Where the bodies are Buried' segment included a fascinating explanation of the time when there were TWO local papers, the Maldon Post and the Tarrangower Times, with very different political viewpoints. She is presently too busy to play golf in her 'retirement' and is still part of the TT editorial triumvirate.

Next week IMT's special guest is former ABC presenter Nicole Chvastek, discussing media, the arts now and then, and ... kangaroos! Ian Slattery of course will be making one of his infrequent cameos with Tony Harvey riding shotgun.

Bowerbird Collective at Holy Trinity

MALDON has been completely spoilt for musical offerings recently, from the lavish Folk Festival weekend to regular gigs at our drinking holes – and last weekend, something truly special in the series of classical music concerts hosted by Rev Darcy Vaughn at Holy Trinity Church. Violinist Simone Slattery and cellist Anthony Albrecht are the Blue Mountains-based Bowerbird Collective.

Their enchanting presentation was an immersive experience of music supported by text and visuals on a large screen, its theme 'Sounds of Australia'. It was a feast for the senses - as they said, "we make art for nature." The recital began with strings and haunting vocals. Classic Australian outback scenes were projected onto the screen, then extraordinary footage of birds on the wing as familiar birdsong combined with their playing. The audience was treated to film of wrens, fledglings in the nest, a bowerbird at work nest-building and large flocks of native birds.

The music included works by Arvo Pärt, Sarah Hopkins,

Ralph Vaughan Williams, Ross Edwards, David John Lang and Chris Williams. There was a Bach prelude and the classic medieval welcome to spring, 'Sing Cuckoo'. Quotations about birds and birdsong projected behind and beside the performers were a constant reminder of the natural wonders we have on this remarkable continent and indeed around the world. Many of the quotes were from the renowned Tim Low. We were reminded of the unsurpassed mimicry of Australia's lyrebird, described appropriately as 'a Shakespeare among birds'. Adding to the tribute came verse from George Meredith, Siegfried Sassoon and John Keats.

The stunning conclusion to this special concert featured a Yorta Yorta song. And in a visual tour de force Simone Slattery stood playing violin in front of the big screen projecting a flock of white cockatoos in flight; it seemed they were actually flying across her deep green frock. Wow.

Maldon local the face of a social media campaign

Private J S Purcell. Sir.

That's when I first started, of course. I finished up Warrant Officer Class One.

I joined in 1972, initially for six years, and then kept reenlisting, and eventually did 25 years.

Early on in my career, we used to get paid by cash.

The diggers outside would line up for their pay. They'd march in. They'd come to a halt. The officer of the day would come in. Sit down in front of you.

He'd count out your pay.

He'd put it in your right hand.

You would put it in your left hand.

You'd take a step back.

Salute, and say 'Pay correct, Sir'... and away you would go.

A few years after that, they decided they would put money straight into your bank account. And that's when I joined Defence Bank.

John has been a member of Defence Bank since its inception in 1975. With the bank soon to salute its first 50 years, they were on the lookout for members like John to tell their story. A couple of weeks ago, John and Janet Purcell fronted lights, cameras and sound recording gear to be part of a new campaign for Defence Bank - one of Australia's largest member-owned banks, serving not only the Australian Defence Force but also the broader community, including staff in commonwealth department agencies.

A number of versions of the videos have been edited, and you can watch one by going to You Tube and search for: Defence Bank way of life, or go to: <https://tinyurl.com/mrxammwa>.

MALDON PÉTANQUE CLUB

We had a challenge on Friday
We had to play U3A

THE Spring challenge games against Castlemaine U3A together with some from Bendigo was held on our home pistes at St Brigid's in summer-like conditions, the temperature around 33.

The heat did not seem to deter any enthusiasm by the players. There were a variety of scores being entered into the computer, even a couple of fair fannies. According to legend many years ago in Cafe de Grande-Lemps, a boules-loving bar in Northern Provence, there was a waitress called Fanny, who promised a kiss on the cheek to players who lost a pétanque game without scoring a point. After being whitewashed, the local mayor approached Fanny for his consolation prize. But Fanny who was not on the best of terms with the mayor, instead dropped her underwear and presented her backside. Humoured, the mayor kissed both cheeks- and a legend was born.

At the close of play, Maldon won 20 games to U3A 6 and thus retained the trophy. Maldon's best player was Viv Markham with 3 wins 21 points whilst for U3A Sally and Rob were best with 2 wins 2 points.

On a sunny Sunday
It was a fun day

On Sunday the weather was kind, sunny with a slight breeze, all we needed for our fortnightly club games. It was a time to relax a bit after the pressure of Friday's challenge.

After our four games there was only one player with 4 wins, George Forster with 33 points, and George also won the regular mystery prize. Second with 3 wins 34 points was Gerry Marthe followed by Matt Loake 3 wins 10 points.

Our next games will be our last for the season; these will be at our usual pistes at St Brigid's for either an 11am or 1.30pm start. After these games, the Maldon Petanque Club will hold a celebration in the hall to mark 20 years since the club was incorporated. All players, past and present, together with sponsors, supporters and friends, are invited to share the bubbles and snacks after play around 3.30pm. Hope to see you there.

MALDON GOLF CLUB

...INDIVIDUAL STABLEFORD EVENT...

ANOTHER enjoyable Spring day for golf saw players enjoying comfortable playing conditions, albeit with the drier fairways and plenty of run on the ball.

Some excellent scores were carded with Simon Saunders a 1-shot winner over a following group of three players.

Tomorrow is the final day of programmed golf this season and players will team as groups of three players to contest an Ambrose event. Following golf tomorrow is the Club's AGM and Trophy presentation evening, where players will honour the winners of the Club Championships and major Honour Board events - a full report will feature in next week's TT.

LAST week's pennant game away at Talbot saw our three teams defeated after some close contests.

Peter's team of Eric, Ellen and Cameron won 9 of 21 ends and lost by only 4 shots 14 to 18. The lead changed five times during the match.

Annette's team of Ken B, Jevon and Lindsay won 10 of 21 ends and led 6 to 1 early. Talbot pulled away to lead 9 to 19 after 18 ends however Maldon came home strongly with a 3, 2 and 2 to fall short 16 to 19.

Phillip's team of Jim, new bowler Mike and Kathy led 6 to 1 after only 3 ends however Talbot hit the front 18 to 12 after 15 ends. The final ends saw Maldon score 5 shots, but Talbot scored 9 shots. Final score: Maldon 17 to Talbot 27.

Overall Maldon 47 shots to Talbot 27.

Next week we play the top side Carisbrook at home.

On Wednesday the Maldon Primary School sports group had its final 'how to bowl' session. After the five-week program great improvement by the students was evident. Their behaviour and participation was outstanding. Thanks to our willing volunteer helpers.
